INTRODUCTORY THOUGHTS ON LEADERSHIP

LEADERSHIP IS.. "Leadership is about taking the lead; it is not about positions or titles"

Dr David Oyedepo, Chancellor, Covenant University.

"EVERYTHING RISES AND FALLS ON LEADERSHIP" John Maxwell

- · Leaders are called to herald change.
- Leaders take the lead in meeting the needs of others.

Leaders are not tied to positional authority rather they thrive on the contributions they makes to society.

Leadership begins from the man who will in turn develop the society where he finds himself.

Leaders are captioned as a Value Adding Personalities (VAP) rather than Very Important Personalities (VIP).

 Leaders are those who show the way in their fields by the proofs of their efforts that culminate in knowledge creation and problem solving.

 Leaders are those who bring improvements to existing systems.

• Leaders halt unproductive patterns of engagement.

• Leaders are doers rather than talkers.

• Leaders are explorers of the future they want everyone to be a part of.

The Crux of Leadership Development - 1
